PANAMA CITY RESCUE MISSION'S OPERATION WARM HEART TO HIT THE STREETS THIS WEEKEND

*As Cold Weather Reaches Panama City, Operation Warm Heart
Delivers Relief to the Homeless in the Area*

- WHO: Panama City Rescue Mission staff and program residents.
- WHAT: For the second year, Operation Warm Heart will hit the streets delivering hot chocolate, coffee, snacks, warm blankets and coats to the area's homeless still living on the streets.
- WHERE: Panama City and beaches
- WHEN Friday and Saturday December 5-6 at 7 PM
- WHY Each day Panama City Rescue Mission provides more than 300 meals to homeless and needy men, women and children. It also houses an average of 75 people a night. The Mission never turns anyone away who needs help, however, there are many men and women who choose not to seek help. But with cold weather hitting the area this weekend, Operation Warm Heart will go where the homeless are to try and provide relief from the cold harsh streets.
- MEDIA: The media are invited to ride along with Operation Warm Heart this Saturday, contact Reuben Corbitt for details.
